George Washington High School
Danville, Virginia

Whether or not we are in accordance with all the ideas and ideals which make up the New Frontier, we are agreed that there is a different philosophy of government and life in the making under the leadership of President John F. Kennedy. When the youngest U. S. president ever elected moved into the White House, political, social, and intellectual changes were in evidence almost from the word "go."

Perhaps a New Frontier is the only answer to the survival of our nation. Though we are no longer incontestably the world's first power, we are the leaders of the Western world. This involves enormous responsibilities for us. It is ours to defend both ourselves and the rest of the free world against the gravest potential threat in history.

Not only must we hold our own in the contemporary struggle for power, but, while so doing, we must also stay a free nation, comprised of free individuals, living under the democratic process. This truth makes the task harder. But, if we do not face up to this challenge, we know we will have lost.

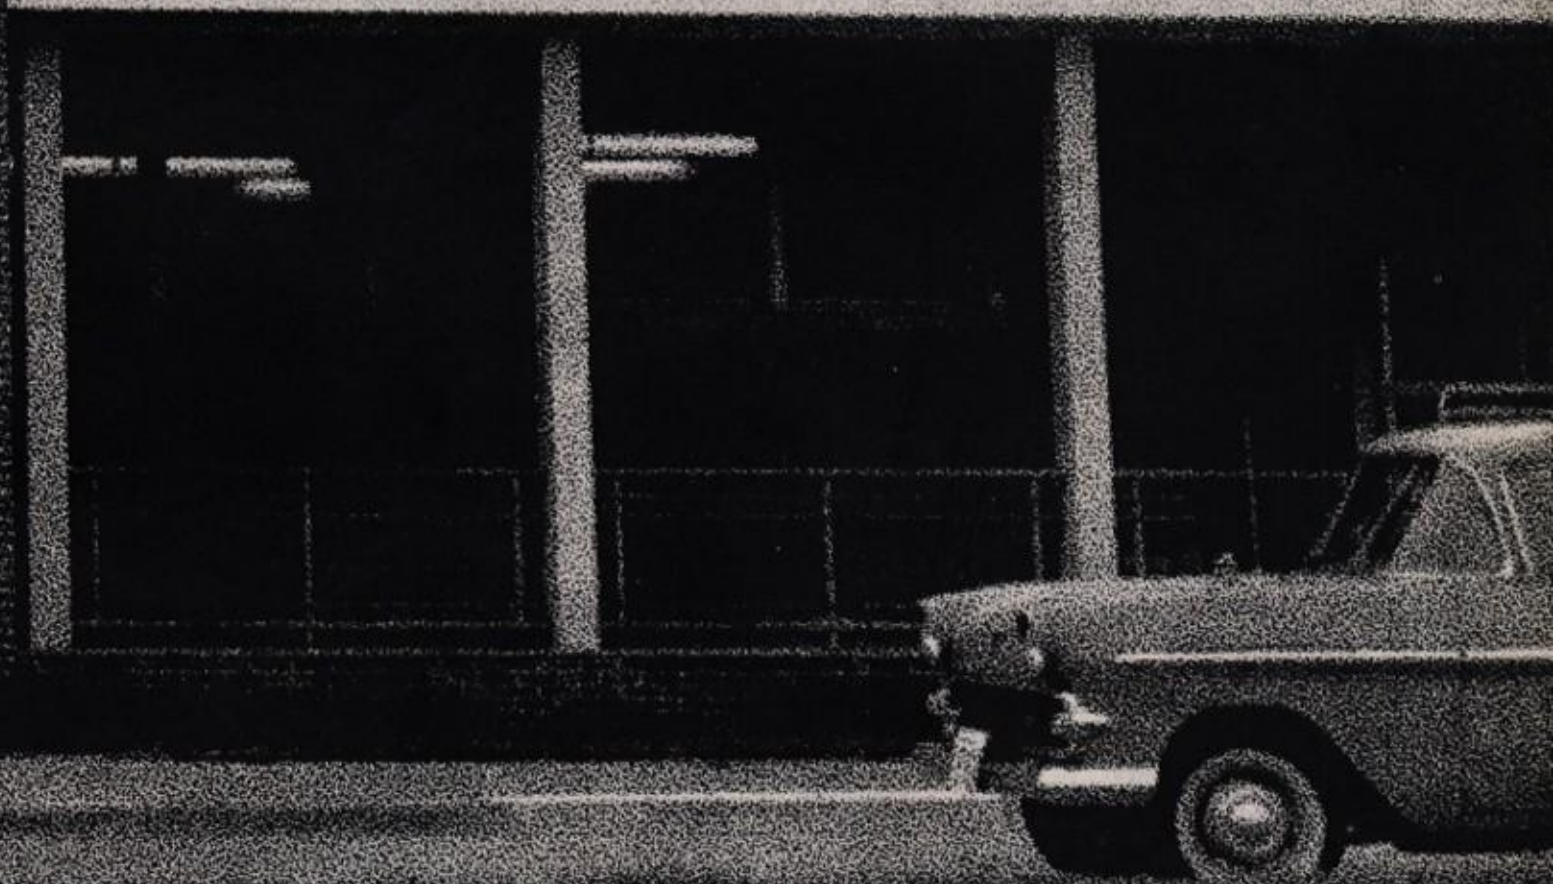

In the major positions of leadership on our national scene, Youth seems to be a keynote of the New Frontier, from the office of Chief Executive on down the line. Perhaps that fact strikes a significant strain. It is a responsibility and challenge for Youth to accept the challenge unerringly, unequivocally, unhesitatingly.

At G. W., far removed from the national political scene but significantly involved in the development and contribution which Danville and Virginia can make toward a New Frontier, Youth is preparing to take on adult responsibilities. To build a future, it is of prime importance to understand both the past and the present. It is an absolute necessity that old frontiers be studied and evaluated in order that New Frontiers may be explored.

Our students are accepting the challenge. In an effort to be ready for tomorrow's challenge, youth explores new frontiers daily—in the classroom, with its related activities, under the guidance of a faculty which is aware of new methodology and new frontiers on the intellectual scene.

At George Washington High School Youth explores New Frontiers.

GEORGE

Varied Activities, Sentimental Moments Are G.W.H.S.

GW is seldom viewed from across the river, as in the scene below, by the students. More familiar is the entrance to the auditorium, where programs are presented for Danville citizens as well as for the high school students. Jo Ann Martin, typical junior, uses the library for research as she prepares for her role in the New Frontier.

As the proud G.W.H.S. banner billows triumphantly in the chill night breeze, head cheerleader Susan Oakes reflects the warm enthusiasm of the fans as players trot out to the field for the pre-game warm-up. Up front are Stilwell (No. 10), Wilmoth (No. 31) and Spessard (No. 70).

Whether through the influence of the general trend of the times toward out-door living, or because of the size of the auditorium, which cannot accommodate friends and relatives of the Senior class, George Washington High School graduation exercises are now written in the Book of Memories as depicted here. Superintendent O. T. Bonner (left, white coat) and Principal J. T. Christopher (right, white coat) congratulate each student as he receives his diploma.

Newest structure in the growing cluster of buildings making up George Washington High School is the Industrial Arts Building termed the "little house" by those who populate its halls daily.

Only during the hours from 9 A.M. 'til 3 P.M. does "the circle" have this rather deserted appearance which belies the bee-hive activity of the school day.

Could We Ever Forget . . .?

Within this window-wall of the cafeteria, the students gather daily not only for good food but for good fellowship. After-hours it serves as a social mecca and, at times, political hall.

Mr. Houser busily checks the master schedule, while Mr. Yeatts confers with CAVALIER staff member, Gaye Dawson, in a typical informal hall conference.

We, the youth of George Washington High School, explore New Frontiers in Education, as special courses and methods designed to meet twentieth-century challenges are introduced and tested for quality. Our curriculum is enriched by clubs organized to provide well-rounded students an opportunity for growth. Each day, as the doors to the school open, our minds open to educational opportunities presented through modern techniques in conjunction with the best classroom facilities.

Questions Answered With Understanding

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

Helping students arrange schedules and advising prospective collegiate scholars are two of the Guidance department's major roles in the academic life of G.W. Guidance teachers constantly lend an understanding ear to all crises great and small, academic and personal. They have become experts at reducing mountains to molehills.

The educational, vocational, and personal services of the Guidance department help the student not only to explore opportunities open to him, but also to better understand himself. Students are encouraged to solve their own problems and to make wise choices based upon an understanding of their aptitudes, limitations, and interests.

College boards are administered each year by the department. As a special convenience to the students, this department arranges for some twenty colleges such as Mary Baldwin, University of Virginia, Duke, and William and Mary to send representatives to G.W. As an additional service to the student body, the guidance office places, in strategic areas in the school, displays which help students in the choice of a career.

In addition to regular class testing, numerous tests are given to all classes by the guidance department during the year. These measure not only intelligence but general achievement and aptitude. They are valuable in the guidance of students for their course of study at G.W. and for college planning.

ENCOURAGING YOUNG MINDS to think and make decisions is part of the guidance program. Miss Pencie Fulton, head of the department, counsels Paul Coleman.

MEMBERS OF THE GUIDANCE FACULTY, Mrs. Mabel Davis (left) and Mrs. Ethel Barker, are beginning a bulletin board display in the guidance rooms. Students are encouraged to come not only for personal and scholastic planning with the guidance personnel but also to explore the vast fund of information in the college catalogs, bulletins and in career folders.

GUIDANCE ASSISTANTS, Miss Williams, Miss Lamb, Mr. Linkous, and Miss Swann take time from their busy schedules to pose for the CAVALIER photographer.

And Aid All the Way From

"Girl Fridays" are Miss Elizabeth Copeland (center), Mrs. Inez Anderson (right), and Mrs. Celia Dishman.

These Behind the Scenes

Familiar figures on the campus, as they keep G.W. clean and beautiful, are Harry Brann, Casey Jones, David Setliff, Joe Ferrell, and Luther Mays.

"Efficiency, patience, and endurance" seems to be the motto of G.W.'s office staff. During the year they wade through innumerable files, pound typewriters, and iron out problems of both the students and the faculty.

Those shining floors (over forty acres of floor space are swept daily), warm, well-ventilated rooms, and well-kept grounds are evidences that the custodial staff are on their toes. From early morning until late evening they diligently make the rounds to see if anything is amiss. There's that plea again, "Mr. Brann, please call the office."

Blinding white, spotless rooms—no, it's not a hospital but the domain of the cafeteria staff. Here weekly menus are planned and food is prepared and served with amazing efficiency and alacrity.

Books, books, everywhere—at least it seems that way in G.W.'s library! Librarians and student assistants are there to help the uninitiated get acquainted with the Dewey decimal system.

In the midst of books, books and more books are found the student library aides, busily helping their classmates find just the right information for that history report which is probably due the next period. These members of the Library Club work during their study hall periods checking out books and learning various phases of library procedure. They have expert technical training under the guidance of their sponsor, Miss Peggy Gibson, assisted by Miss Carol Phillips.

Books, books, everywhere! Mrs. Evelyn Barker, Manager of the Textbook Rental System, directs rentals for the entire school system, with offices at G.W.H.S. More than fourteen thousand of these are issued to G.W. students.

LIBRARY CLUB First Row: Connie Lewis, Mary Frances Hughes, president, Mary Frances Doss, vice president, Kay Thomas, secretary, Ruth Ann Jones, treasurer, Patsy Hazelwood; Around Desk: Dennis

THOSE EXPRESSIVE HANDS, that expressive smile belong to Mr. Earl Greene, who directs choral activity at G.W. and for the entire school system.

Typical GW Teachers Reflect in Their Work

THREATENING TO "PUSH THE PANIC BUTTON," Coach Lefty Wilson declares, "The Birds'll Feed You."

EQUALLY AT EASE in role of classroom teacher or CAVALIER advisor is Mrs. Evelyn Miller, (left) who is not known just as "Mr. Miller's wife."

"GENIUS AT WORK" (right) might well be the sign over O-26, Miss Thelma Naylor's domain as head of the math department.

Enthusiasm, Scholarship, Character, Experience and Love.

WISDOM TEMPERED WITH GENTLENESS characterizes the work of the head of the social studies department, Miss Mary Oliver.

"PUFF! PUFF! PUFF! THIS MATCH IS REALLY TOUGH!" Mr. Mitchell, tennis coach, contemplates the ability of his fine team.

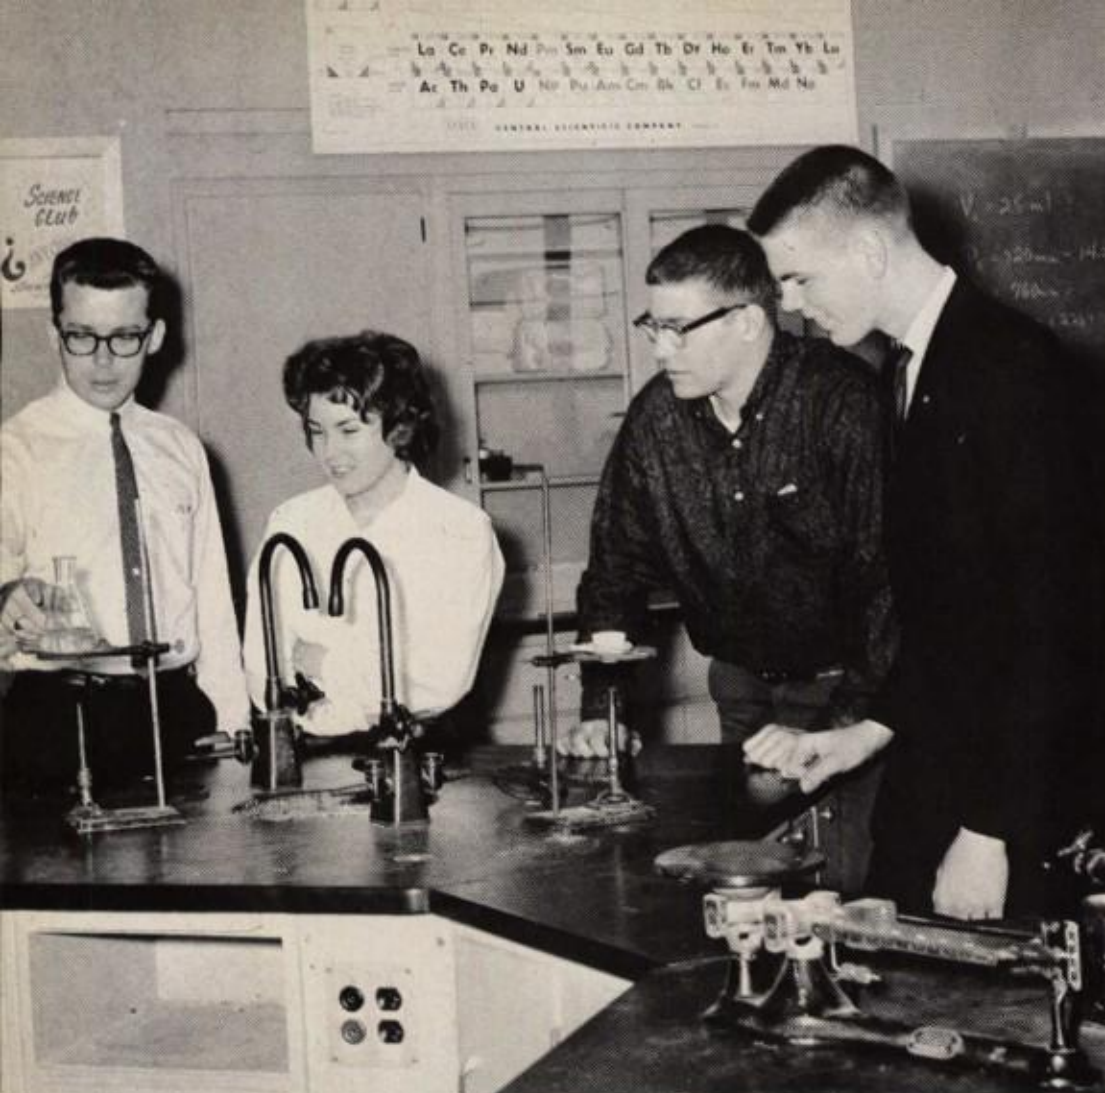

"STRYKE" UP THE BAND with Mr. Gene Stryker! Just watch him dig into that pizza at the Men's Chorus party!

"AND THE BULL RUSHES ON" As Creative Writing Instructor, Kenneth Miller, right, bursts forth with another of his "fantabulous" puns.

THE MYSTERIES OF CHEMISTRY afford some gay moments and, of course, those gray moments! Enjoying an informal experiment are: Mr. James Harris, teacher, Carol Abbott, Bob Atkins, and Keith Sandridge.

DO I SMELL RUBBER BURNING? Watch out Russia! These hardworking students are Science Club officers, Larry Aaron, president, Jane Wiseman, vice-president, and Melinda Agee, secretary-treasurer.

NEW TRENDS IN EDUCATION continue to be the order of the day as G.W.'s fifth TV Science class prepares to heed the teacher-on-the-air.

Space-Age Spurs

SCIENCE CLUB

Amid test tubes, aquariums, and element tables, aspiring young scientists probe the challenging frontier of science. The microscopic world of the amoeba and the hydra reveals some of nature's most fascinating and intimate secrets. Formulas and experiments hold the key to man's world of the future.

By stimulating an interest in science and by encouraging students to use their inherent abilities, the Science Club, which is federated with thousands of other clubs in Science Clubs of America, hopes to make the student aware of his universe and to develop a desire in the student for pursuing scientific knowledge.

Scientific ideas are brought into focus through field trips, Bell Telephone Company films, trips to Chapel Hill, and programs with guest speakers. In the spring of the year the Science Fair, which is the club's most important project, was held as usual.

Superior Scientific Scholarship

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Test tubes are agitated, formulae perused, and equations frantically completed by would-be Einsteins in chemistry and physics classes. The botanists and zoologists of tomorrow intently probe the worlds of the fungi and the planaria.

To increase and take full advantage of evident enthusiasm in science, the Science department has added new courses. A Physical Science Study Committee class in physics is being taught for the first time. This presentation of physics covers more material and affords each student opportunity for individual advancement and experimentation.

Other courses now under consideration for adoption are Chemical Bond and a class planned according to the Biological Science Committee Study. All students are required to take two years of science which will furnish them with basic scientific knowledge. A solid foundation is provided the students who wish to pursue a scientific career.

SCIENTIFIC CONTEMPLATION and investigation is the order of the day for Jeanne Abbott, senior physics student.

Home Ec Courses Prepare Homemakers for Livelihood

TECHNIQUES IN MODELING as learned in Home Ec. are demonstrated by Laura Connor with Gay Whitehead and Penny Allen as a mock audience.

TEACHING THE "ETIQUETTE WAY" to set the table is one of the many functions of the Home Economics department. May Daniels and Gail Watlington demonstrate the proper methods of decorating the table for a meal.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The click of knitting needles accompanies every "chick-party" and gab-fest. The Home Economics department, to foster this fad, offers classes in knitting. Every Wednesday a volunteer instructor helped the students with problems, gave tips, and demonstrated knitting techniques.

Old picture frames, tables, and stools have been transformed into new pieces of furniture. This miraculous metamorphosis has been wrought by the girls in home economics who have a flair for the do-it-yourself method.

Home Economics is a field of study that appeals to girls with varied interests and abilities. It is geared to afford an excellent preparation for homemaking. Since the home economics background prepares a student for a career which easily combines with homemaking, the department embodies a curriculum with this fact in mind.

At G.W. all the home economics courses afford background for many varied professional outlets: teaching, extension service, 4-H Club work, home demonstration work, business (test kitchens, textile firms, public utility companies), institution management, health and welfare, research, and homemaking. These professions present an exciting challenge to the modern woman. She can render a service to her community and design a feeling of self-accomplishment from her chosen field.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Gerunds, infinitives, complex sentences, and subordinate clauses are keys which unlock doors leading to the full enjoyment and understanding of the English language and literature. Silas Marner and the Merchant of Venice stimulate sophomore literary sensitivities. Juniors explore the rich history of American literature and venture into the world of the essay and the short story. The ghost of Hamlet's father and the folksy, warm characters from Canterbury Tales people the senior English classes.

Appraisal and revision of subject matter and of learning activities are the guiding principles which members of the English department strive to uphold. This effort to keep abreast of demands made by a modern society has resulted in innovations—in written composition, where emphasis is on brief themes related to the study of literature and student experiences; and in parallel reading, where two designated books are required in each class.

The English department tries not only to provide levels which allow individuals to develop according to their ability, but also to offer subjects such as speech, journalism and creative writing which add scope to the knowledge acquired in the regular course of study.

Additional activities which offer a special challenge to students include philosophy of life papers for juniors, impromptu themes for juniors and seniors, and the special word list on which seniors must score a minimum of 95.

Social Studies Department

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Social Studies teachers present subject matter which is outlined in new texts adopted in 1961. A new feature of course content, incorporated into eleventh grade American history classes, is a two-weeks unit on vocational guidance which is studied at the beginning of the course. The purpose of this innovation is to correlate the Social Studies program with the objectives of the guidance department.

The Alps of Switzerland and the rain in Spain become more than fanciful facts and four-digit figures to students of world geography. Fascinating epochs of the Old World—Marco Polo's sojourn, the Crusades, the Renaissance—are brought to life by world history instructors, not only through lectures but also by the use of projects and special assignments.

Courses in United States history present America's proud heritage. Government students examine the intricate structures and processes which form essential cornerstones in our free society. Thus they become aware of universal events which will be the history of the future.

Grouping has been found to be effective in providing an opportunity for a wider use of current history, for a more comprehensive and critical analysis of editorial opinions. Ninth-grade geography classes are channeled along a three-track program, while twelfth-grade classes follow a two-track program.

Adopts Placement Program, New Texts

Closely correlated with the social studies department are extra-curricular clubs organized to further students' interest in their country and its relation to other nations. The faculty of this department serves as sponsors.

With promoting interest and understanding in national and international affairs as its purpose, the International Relations Club meets once a month in the homes of members. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors.

Juniors must have an overall B average. Seniors must have a B average in social studies for at least one semester. The IRC frequently meets with other clubs for programs of special interest.

To instill in its members a loyalty and allegiance to the United States of America, the symbols of its justice and ideals, and its history and traditions, the Civics Club held regular monthly meetings.

Among those who addressed the club were Mr. Juby Towler, Coordinator of Civil Defense activities in Danville, and Mr. George Anderson, assistant mayor of Danville. The main project of the year was a Christmas party for the retarded children at the Richard Smith School.

These two clubs work in cooperation with the social studies department to develop conscientious students who are working toward developing good citizenship.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The Mathematics department is building a program geared to the student's ability and to the high standards demanded by the space age. Two classes in a programmed course enable the exceptional student to complete the regular mathematics courses offered at G.W. and to continue with college-level material.

Members of the Mathematics department are serving as a committee which will select textbooks for grades 8-12 for state adoption. Texts chosen by the local faculty will be voted on by individual schools throughout the state.

Learning by Doing Stressed by Industrialists

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

In the Industrial Arts classes, students work with materials, tools, and processes indigenous to industrial plants. They plan and construct projects in the area of their choosing under expert supervision.

Newly formed to complement the latest addition to the curriculum at G.W., the Industrial Training Club is comprised of members of the Industrial Cooperative Training program. This program offers an opportunity for students to train on-the-job in service, skilled, industrial, and semi-professional pursuits.

The objectives of the I.C.T. Club, an authorized chapter of Diversified Occupations Clubs of America, are the fostering of character, leadership, craftsmanship, citizenship, and fellowship.

Development of sound health habits for building and maintaining physical fitness is the objective of the physical education program. In spite of aching muscles, students soon begin to enjoy brief workouts which increase the agility needed to participate in individual and group sports. A spirit of friendly competition, combined with a feeling of team cooperation, is developed to contribute toward the student's growth to maturity. As an accessory to the formal program, the Girls' Athletic Association has been organized this year on a homeroom basis. Through its activities the classroom program is enlarged and emphasized.

An interest in the civilization of the countries whose languages are being studied has necessitated the formation of extracurricular language clubs. These specialized groups supplement facts accumulated through work in the classroom with a specialized study of a particular country: its history, its people, its customs.

Assuming the semblance of a Junior Chamber of Commerce, the French Club initiated correspondence with mayors of numerous French cities. Individual club members exchanged information on Danville for similar information on French cities. This was used in compiling a scrapbook on France.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The echoes of "Habla usted espanol?", "Ave atque vale", "Parlez-vous francais?", and "Sprechen Sie Deutsch?" resound through the classrooms of George Washington High School. The number of students taking two languages simultaneously and the large total enrollment are evidences of the keen interest of students who are studying foreign languages in more than 30 classes.

Courses in French, Latin, Spanish, and German enable the student to better understand the environment, historical background, and culture of other peoples.

In the advanced Latin classes, an historical insight into the classical world of Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil makes the student aware of his cultural heritage. The training in grammar during the first and second years builds a solid foundation not only for a study of Latin literature, but also for better comprehension of English and of the Romance Languages.

Classroom instruction for the modern languages is supplemented by required practice in the language laboratory. This aural-oral approach to speech at G.W. has proved an effective means of increasing the ability of the student to understand and to communicate intelligently in the language which he is studying.

Films, art reproductions, music, maps, supplementary reading materials, pen pals, and club activities further implement the aims of the Foreign Language department: to broaden the horizons of the student; to present the classical tradition as reflected in our everyday living; and to help make each student an integral part of a world which is becoming ever smaller.

Students Explore Classical, Modern Languages

Through G.W.'s Latin Club, Ovi-Capita, students are relating the culture, literature and philosophy of the past with the present. Club members discovered that Latin, both its history and its grammar, is related to our every day lives in surprising and countless ways. A recognition of the value of the classical authors in all fields of the fine arts was obtained not only in the classroom but through visiting lecturers.

Present-day Germany does not seem so remote to German Club members. A vicarious trip to the country with which they had become familiar, through the study of its language, was undertaken via films, telling Germany's story and depicting the lives of its people.

Fine Arts Inspire Fine Thinking, Feelings

The Fine Arts department encourages artistically and musically inclined students to develop their own talents and to make contributions to the cultural life of the community. All Danville citizens are invited to attend the Fine Arts Festival and concerts given by the band and chorus.

The bands, cadet and varsity, increase school spirit by playing at all games, pep rallies and assembly programs. The band, majorettes, Kiltie Korps, and Letter Girls participate in parades and rallies and perform at the Apple Blossom and Dogwood Festivals of the state.

This year the chorus is leading group singing in addition to the usual formal programs. A male chorus has been organized to supplement the two regular choral groups. Members of the chorus take part in The Messiah, city-wide Christmas performance.

Art students make posters, aid in painting stage sets, and supply illustrations for publications. The members of the art classes exhibit at the Fair, Sidewalk Show, and for other organizations. They also enter the Virginia Forests Poster Contest and The Scholastic Art Awards competition.

Powder, paint, and hard work are the by-words of aspiring young actors and actresses who express themselves by assuming the characteristics of fanciful and factual persons. "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," this year's senior play, in its title calls to mind the enthusiasm and sincerity which drama students bring to their undertakings.

Choruses and Drama Department

WHERE'S MR. GREENE? The looks on the faces of these Mixed Chorus officers reveal that they must know the answer: Tim Montgomery, president; Butch Brown, vice-president; Phyllis McCubbins, secretary; and Wayne Hilliard, treasurer.

"There's music in the air" as G.W.'s three choruses rehearse to improve the beauty and quality of their musical selections.

Men's Chorus, organized primarily as a social group, provides a means of self-expression for boys who enjoy singing. Meeting after school, the group practices for assemblies, community programs, and school functions.

Girls' Chorus introduces its members to a world of melodic sounds. Open to all girls at G.W., the chorus, which performs for civic clubs and assemblies, also participates in the District Festival where its members are judged on the quality of their work.

Perfecting the art of singing is the goal of the Mixed Chorus. They present selections from the finest in choral literature and perform in Christmas and spring concerts. Members are sent to All-State Chorus. This chorus also participates in the District Festival.

MIXED CHORUS officers and chairmen put their heads together and work to keep the group organized and running smoothly. They are: Back Row: Libby Heffinger, librarian; Tim Montgomery, president; Butch Brown, vice-president; Robin Burrell, choir mother; Phyllis McCubbins, secretary; Ann Bateman, choir mother. Front Row: Sheryl Willis, librarian; Ellen Turner, assistant secretary; Julian Johnson, podium committee; Wayne Hilliard, treasurer; Eddie Willis, podium committee.

Call to Mind Extensive Band Activities

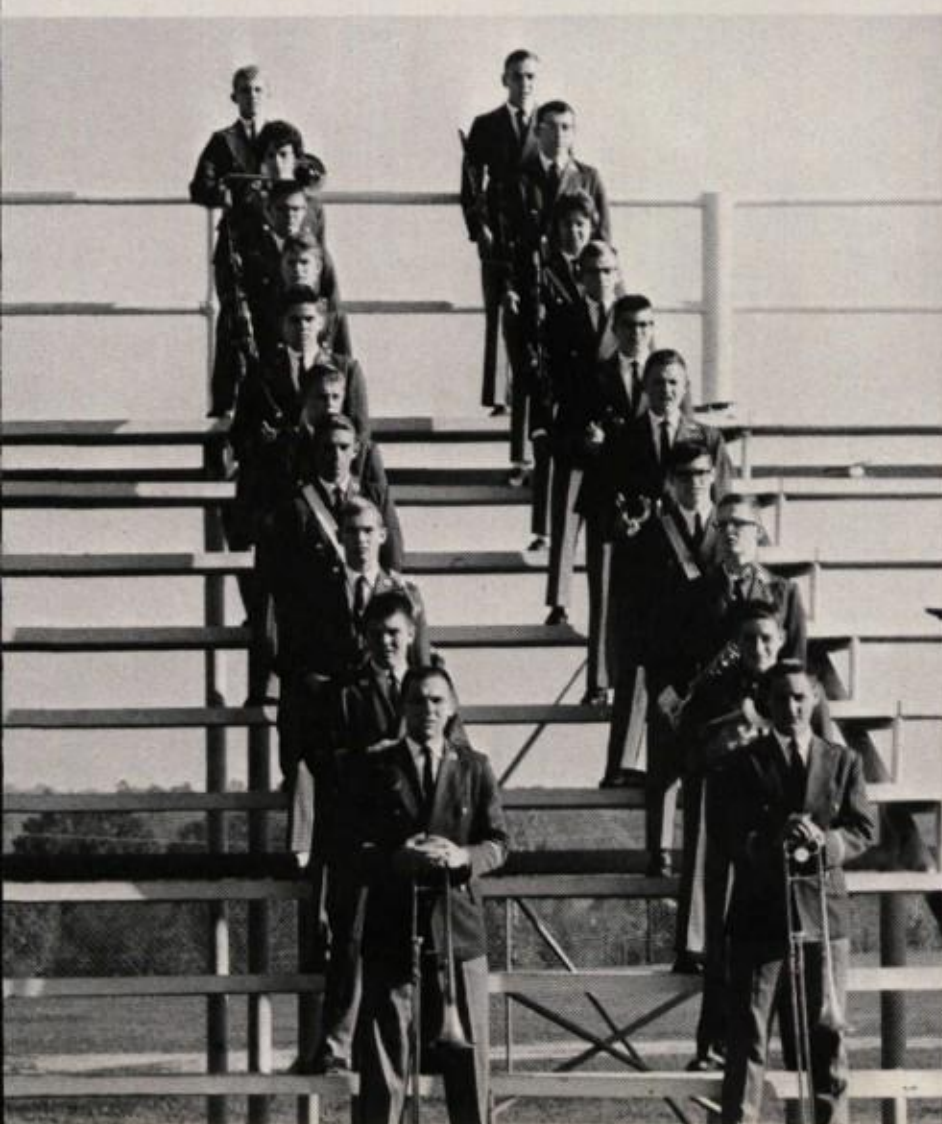

"One, two-one, two, three-one, two, three, four. Let's go!" Every fall morning—cold or otherwise—found the 77 members of the Varsity Band in formation on the field. Practice makes perfect, and so were the half-time shows executed by the boys in red stocking caps. Primarily a marching band, the group doubles as a concert band, combining the brass, woodwinds and percussion in three-four as well as two-four time.

Following four girls bearing the letters of the school and five "highsteppers," G.W.'s Varsity Band participated in several local parades and presented half-time shows at two out-of-town football games. The first week in February, the band was host to the District VI All State Bands, a highlight of the year's activity.

Close behind the band were forty-three girls in brilliant kilts, well-trained in their intricate routines, G.W.'s own Kiltie Korps!

Having been tagged as G.W.'s "Ragtime Band," the boys went all out to raise funds for new uniforms by selling "cool school stools." The band and Danville's Barbershop Singers jointly sponsored "The Music Man" in Danville in early fall. G.W.'s share went into the fund. Interested Danville citizens and other groups got behind the movement to push for success. A chocolate candy sale and a pizza party swelled the fund.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Designed as a vocational course, Business Education also offers a background course for students who plan to major in business in college. Increased enrollments and additional class offerings for both credit and non-credit are evidences of the growing interest in business skills.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB

The D.E. Club had a successful and rewarding year. Several prominent businessmen, in the field of distribution, spoke to the club. A fund raising project was conducted in the fall to raise money for a Christmas dance. The club chose, as its professional project, the selection of a "Boss of the Month." In February the club members attended a district convention at E.C. Glass High School in Lynchburg for contests, programs, and entertainment. Slimaxing events was an employer-employee banquet where the members invited their bosses to dinner.

We, the youth of George Washington High School, explore New Frontiers through our Student Life. Good citizenship, school spirit, and a sense of togetherness are fostered by participation in publications, clubs, and other activities geared to develop a student capable of contributing to his church, his community, and his country. We seek to become either leaders with vision or followers with courage. We bring to extracurricular activities a zest and energy that becomes our generation. Many are recognized for outstanding characteristics and honored by selection for national honorary organizations, and in competitive events throughout the school year.

WHICH IS THE DUMMY? These hard working CAVALIER staff members started work in summer with the publisher's representative, and it looks as though they continued into the night. Virginia Daugherty worked so hard at it that she was sick when the photographer arrived!

THEY'RE NOT FOOLING US! It's not that simple to put out the CAVALIER, Virginia—or to finance it, Frannie.

The Big Book Takes on

"Where's the copy paper?" This constant riddle beset the CAVALIER staff on more than one occasion. If someone weren't eating it, where was it going? The mystery was easily solved. Tons and tons of it (or so it seemed to the typists!) were used for department write-ups, page dividers, identifications, and student activities.

"Hold that pose!" CAVALIER photographers scurried here and there hoping to catch G.Wites "doing what comes naturally." And as you go through the book, you can see that they frequently did just that.

"Let's give it the ole one, two." Members of the editorial staff gritted their teeth and tackled their tasks. Senior statistics were compiled, pictures were identified and copy assignments were followed through.

With the advertising deadline at October 31, 1962, the CAVALIER business staff wheeled around town, visiting nearly all of Danville's business establishments with their trusty ad contracts, '62 CAVALIERS, and a bright, "Wouldn't you like to advertise in the 1963 G.W.H.S. annual?" Evidence of their daily progress was recorded on a chart which was hung to stimulate initiative.

"Off the press!" At the end of a sometimes trying, but immensely rewarding year, members of both staffs felt a warm inner glow because they had given the best of their time, energy, and creativity to present a true view of their school.

BILLS GO OUT to Danville merchants from Beth Saul and Dale Terry, members of the business staff of the CAVALIER.

IT TAKES MORE THAN PLAY money to put out the CAVALIER! So declare Donna Broxson, left, Mike Shoffner and Sharon Tarp-ley.

the "New Look" for '63

Since G.W. has an enrollment of more than 2000 students and some 100 teachers and administrative officers, the CAVALIER staff felt that the task of putting out a yearbook was too great for one or even two editors. With this idea in mind, an Editorial Board was created.

Each editor had a major area of responsibility. Those assigned key positions and pictured at right were: Mrs. Henry D. Lea, sponsor of editorial staff; Mrs. Kenneth M. Miller, sponsor of business staff; Virginia Daugherty, chairman of the editorial board; Janet Snead, copy editor; Sarah Bruce, statistical editor; Third Row: Jeanne Abbott, club and photography editor; Suzanne Swanson, student life editor; Susan Crane, faculty editor; Terry Clement, class editor; Tim Montgomery, sports editor; Bottom Row: Laura Connor, advertising manager; Frannie Laramore, business manager; Gaye Dawson, composition editor.

Planning advertising, carrying out the subscription campaign, and sponsoring such activities as the Mr. and Miss G.W. Contest and the Student-Faculty basketball game were supervised by the business staff including Donna Broxson, Mike Shoffner, Dale Terry, Keith Allen, Brooks Greene, Walker Lea, and Beth Saul.

One Was Excellent, Now Students Enjoy Two

In its ninth year of publication, the Cardinal Talent Scout, GW's award-winning literary magazine, is composed of original student essays, short stories, poetry, and art work. Under the guidance of Mr. Kenneth Miller, the CTS inspires creative effort and arouses literary interest among the student body.

"What night?" "Sadie who?" Such were the exclamations when the annual CTS fund-raising Harvest Hop was announced. This year's fun and frolic was in the form of a Twirp Night, and the girls even opened doors for the boys. "Miss CTS," "Miss" Gene "Fatima" Touchstone, was presented. Seward Anderson was declared winner of the pie-eating contest.

Any other time found members of the Cardinal Talent Scout staff hard at work in the CTS room, puzzling over which contributions to use. To make it easier, the eager-beaver CTS-ers published, instead of the usual one, two issues to exhibit even more GW-ite "masterpieces."

Students from the publication attended the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference in New York, and the Southern Interscholastic Press Association Conference in Lexington, Virginia, to obtain new ideas.

For Socializing and Service

Y-TEEN CLUB

Through varied projects and activities, each Y-Teen member is given the opportunity to grow—as a person, in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities, and in the knowledge and love of God. With these high ideals as guiding principles more than two hundred G.W. students put their talents and energies to work in four Y-Teen clubs, organized on a class basis.

All aboard! Twenty-five Y-Teen members, with their advisor, Miss Anna Jones, journeyed to New York City in November. While attending the World Fellowship Service in the Washington Cathedral was the main purpose of the trip, the girls also took in the sights.

Boys, beware! In co-operation with the Danville Police Department, a course in judo was offered to Y-Teen girls. Lessons in bridge, knitting, and swimming were also made available at the YWCA.

In an effort to aid the teenager and the community, a baby-sitting service was established. This proved lucrative as well as educational for the members.

Other activities included an open house, candy and potato chip sales, Christmas and Valentine Dances, and a Date-Daddy Banquet. In addition to these general projects the individual clubs executed their own special endeavors.

The general organization of the student body of George Washington High School is the Student Government Association, of which every student in the school is a member. The purposes of this organization are to give the student body a voice in the affairs of the school, to create among them qualities of leadership, and to provide training in the responsibilities of self government.

Serving as the governing body of the organization, the Student Council is composed of one representative, and alternate, elected from each of the homerooms in the school, and the three officers elected by the entire student body in the spring of the preceding year.

Major duties of the Student Council are: to grant charters to all extra-curricular organizations in the school, to sponsor all worthy financial drives among the students, to foster an honor system under which the students shall govern their own matters of honor, and to undertake projects proposed by the homerooms.

Recent projects undertaken by the Student Council are the printing and distribution of student directories, the selling of G. W. book covers, operating the mailing station and clothing collection at Christmas, sponsoring the Clash of the Classes basketball game, and directing the orientation program for prospective G.W.-ites. The S.C.A. also assisted in the fall Open House for parents.

Four seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen, appointed by the principal, and the officers of the S.C.A., compose the Judiciary, the governing body of the Student Council.

The Judiciary holds hearings of all students accused of offenses involving honor. They also take part in the orientation program, promote school activities, and tabulate votes from the various major elections.

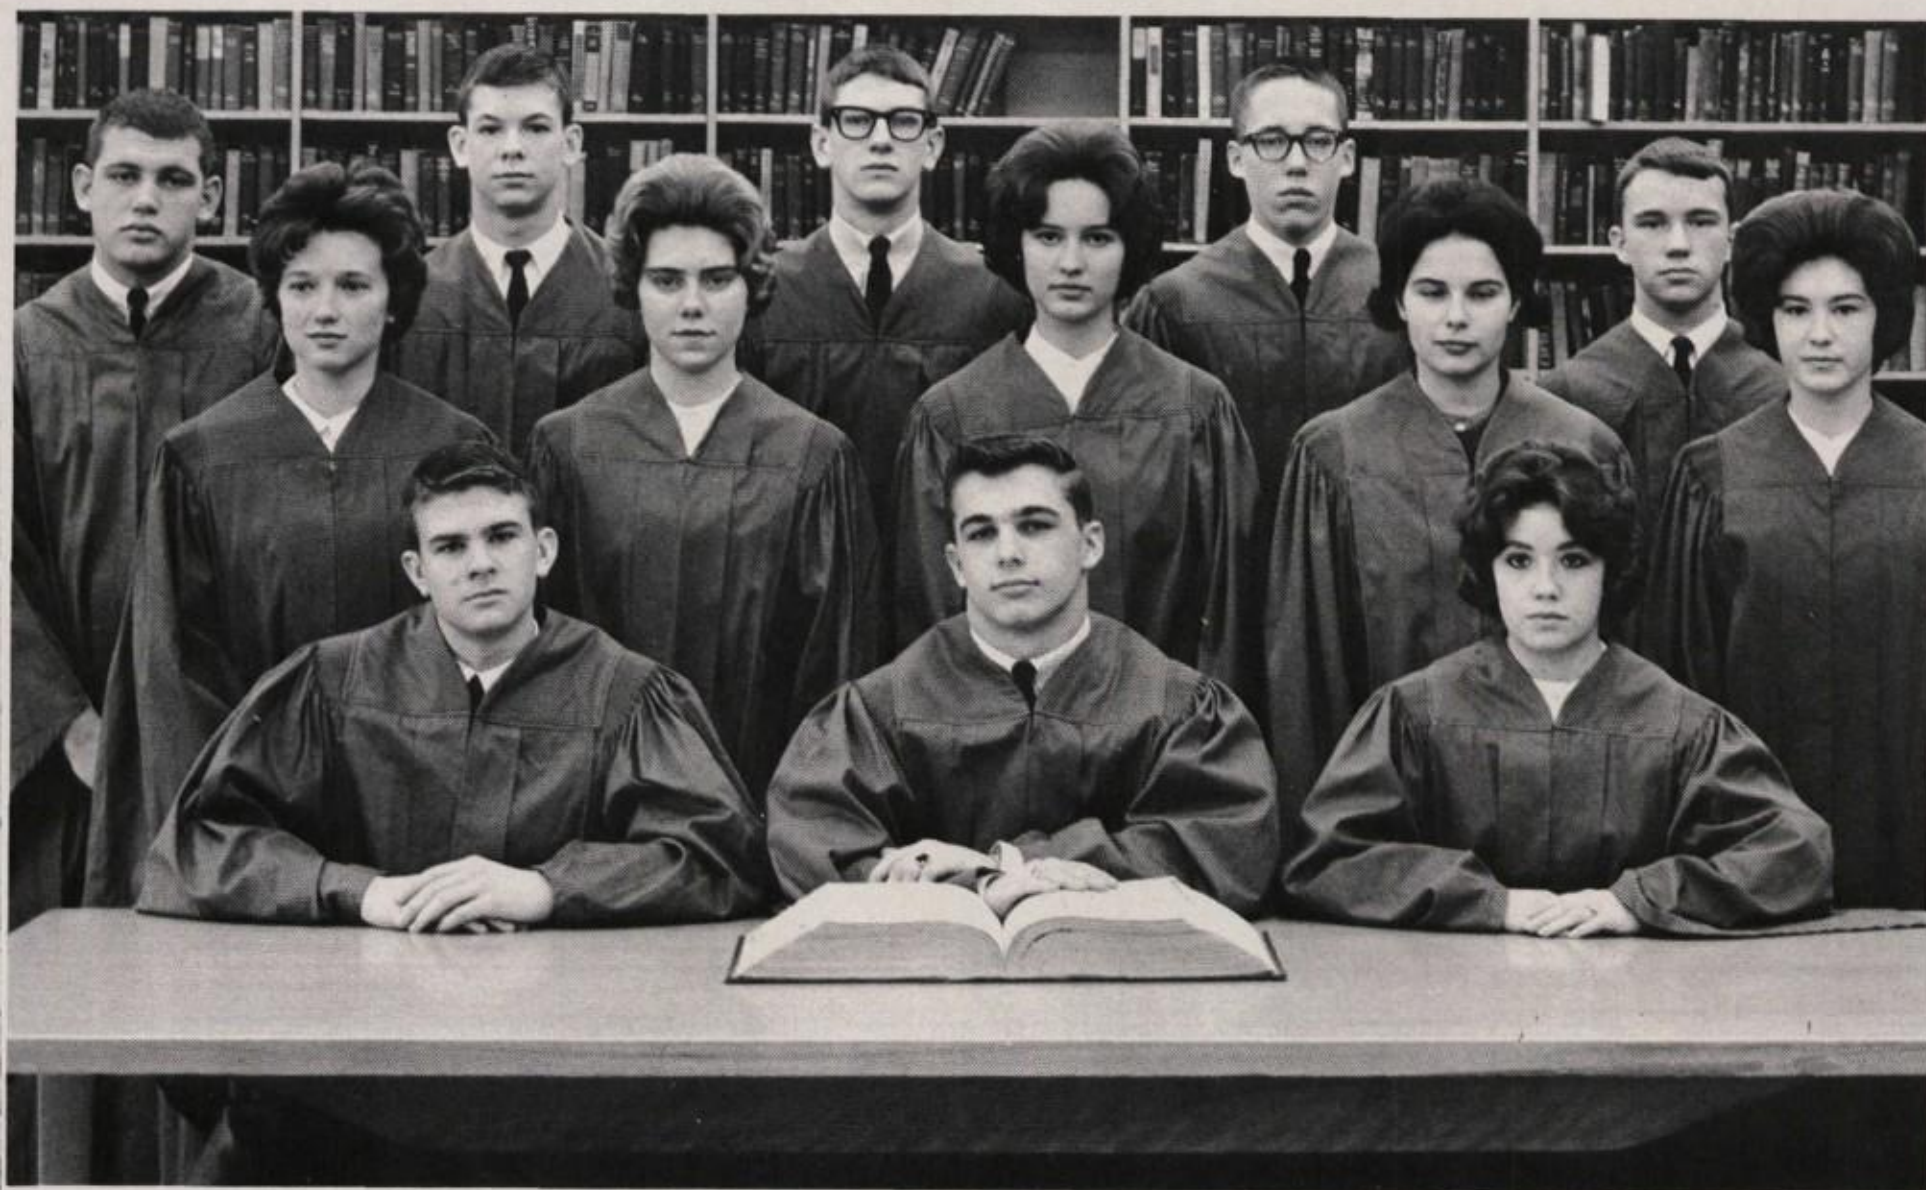

The Student Council has jurisdiction over an Inter-Club Council, composed of the officers of the S.C.A., the presidents of all extra-curricular organizations of the school, and the editors of the three school publications.

The Inter-Club Council works to foster better relationships between all extra-curricular organizations of the school, seeks to co-ordinate all school activities in conjunction with the Student Council, and, with the Student Council, sponsors those activities of school-wide importance that do not fall within jurisdiction of any one school organization.

S.C.A. President Mike Brown (right) seems to be pleased with the agenda for the regular meeting of homeroom delegates. He is assisted in checking by Mary Alice Johnson, secretary, right, and Miss Betty Lou Jefferson, faculty advisor, as vice-president Joe Stilwell sizes up the situation.

"HERE, TOO, IT'S A CENT HIGHER!" Brenda Vaughn pays Winston Aron and Rocky English for mailing her Christmas cards through the S.C.A. Mailing Station.

PUBLICITY IS THE KEYNOTE for the Clash of the Classes. Larry Aaron, Judy Carr, Betty Jean Albright, Charles Newman, and Bill McCubbins work on posters for the G.W-ites' "civil war" night.

"ISN'T THIS TOO MUCH?" Gwendolynne Hill and Lawson Grant look as if they have been overcharged by David Baxa and Gail Motley who are raising money (they hope) for student projects by selling S.C.A. bookcovers.

National Society Honors Superior Student Qualities

RECORDS, RECORDS, RECORDS—Miss Lucile Walton, who sponsors the National Honor Society and also is the faculty member who assists students in applying for scholarships, not only knows the students but class standings as well!

Qualifications for membership in the National Honor Society are four: scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

A candidate must be serving the school in such capacities as he is able, demonstrate honesty and sterling character. Leadership—the ability to think for oneself—must be exhibited by the student.

Once inducted, members try to promote these standards throughout the rest of the school. Furthermore, a 91 average or better must be maintained throughout every semester of high school.

At two special programs in the auditorium, new members were publicly announced. To the solemn strains of "Huldigung's Marche," robed shadows, led by four, bearing candles, stole into the auditorium, as hearts in the audience pounded expectantly. To a chosen few the tap came and with it swelled the pride of achievement.

Besides executing two induction assemblies, the society counseled freshmen who were potential members, cooperated with the S.C.A. in distributing honor cards, and held a banquet in the spring.

Local Civic Organizations Sponsor Outstanding Boys

Civic organizations of Danville take an active interest in the city's youth by sponsoring boys' groups.

Eighteen senior boys—proving their excellence in the fields of leadership, service, music, forensics, athletics, scholarship, dramatics, and journalism—were extended by Principal J. T. Christopher and his club committee the honor of being selected as Junior Rotarians. Each of the outstanding boys had "his month" when he was a guest of the local Rotary Club at their regular Tuesday meetings. The one so honored not only received a free meal at the Charcoal House but also benefited from the informative programs presented.

The G.W. Key Club is a part of Key Club International and is sponsored locally by the Danville Kiwanis Club.

Open to sophomore, junior, and senior boys, new members are elected biannually. Boys selected for membership are those who have exhibited sterling character, outstanding citizenship, and loyal service. Like its parent club, the Kiwanis, the Key Club is primarily a service club.

Pranksters on the loose? No, it's just the Key Clubbers carrying out their chief project, painting house addresses with luminous paint on the curbs in front of houses to facilitate finding them and to raise money for the Key Club.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST

To lead its members into the Christian faith, to develop Christian character, and to promote Christian fellowship—these are the high goals of the Youth For Christ Club.

Besides meeting weekly with their sponsor, Miss Annie Swann, the G. W. Club, together with other groups in the city, participated in Saturday night rallies and quizzes under the direction of John Briner, director of Danville Youth For Christ.

Y.F.C. members attended the Capitol Teen Convention in Washington, D. C., during the Christmas vacation. They joined our some twelve thousand teenagers from all over the world who met for three days. Highlights were addresses by Billy Graham and Bobby Richardson and the singing of Christmas carols around the President's Christmas tree.

Students Participate with F.T.A.

School days, school daze—as inspired, career-minded G. W. students strived to acquaint themselves with the varied rewards and possible frustrations of the teaching profession. As a main objective, the F.T.A. informed its members of the opportunities offered in this wide field and made available information concerning teacher training.

This year, led by president Maria Scott and sponsor Miss Annie Swann, the club has presented in cooperation with the Guidance Department a career conference in teaching for all students showing any interest. Delegates were again sent to the State Convention in Roanoke.

As has been customary each year, student teachers spoke to the club presenting fresh insights into the pursuing of this highly important profession.

One of the helpful consultants for the group was Mr. Ernest Baxa, assistant superintendent of the school system, who is in charge of the teacher recruitment.

Future Goals in Mind

F.H.A.

"You and Your Values," "Citizenship," "Marriage Calls for Preparation," are discussions which might have been overheard at a meeting of the Future Homemakers of America. General theme was "Discovering Myself, My Worth to Others."

An eye-catching educational exhibit was displayed by the group at the Danville Fair. Four girls, in cooperation with the Piedmont Federation, participated in a fashion review.

As a project the girls sent aprons to the exchange store at the Lynchburg Training School. Also included in their activities was an open house at Christmas for faculty members. Especially emphasized were the degrees of F.H.A. Achievement: Junior Homemaker, Chapter Homemaker, and State Degree.

F.H.A. officers are Linda Singleton, president; Mary Frances Clifton, vice-president; Sue Gatewood, secretary; Brenda Giles treasurer; Leah Gilliland, parliamentarian; Lamar Lewis, historian; Gail Watlington, reporter; Mrs. Annie Sayers, advisor; Mrs. Elizabeth Moseley, assistant advisor.

MODEL-T CLUB

"What is your idea of the model girl?" This was the question facing a panel of GW boys at a meeting of the Model-T's. Other meetings were highlighted by discussions on hair-styling, make-up, posture, and clothes. Organized for girls interested in modeling, the group also strives to become model teens.

Model-T's meet monthly in the homes of members, with Mrs. Annie Laura Sayers as their sponsor. Their objectives include the development of poise and good grooming habits, and the practicing of modeling techniques. By tradition the girls served as "finishing touches" on the Retail Merchants' floats in the Christmas parade. Included in their projects were a spring picnic and a fashion show in Greensboro.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The small gold emblems of the Quill and Scroll Society are worn "with a difference." Because much of the work done by Chatterbox, CTS, and CAVALIER staff members takes place behind closed doors, students are not often aware of the identity of those who give the hours of effort to their publications.

Hours of hard, unselfish work qualify students for membership in Thespians, the National Dramatics Honor Society, whose aim is to maintain high standards of excellence in high school dramatics. Only students who have made outstanding contributions in play production are eligible.

Each spring Danville school children eagerly await the original play production presented for them by the Thespian group. This play is offered in the G. W. auditorium on a schedule to afford ample seating capacity.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

"Give me a G," comes floating through the clear air—and it could just stand for "girl." Not "any ole girl" but the special, dedicated cheerleader of G.W.

Composed of ten regulars and two alternates, the Varsity Cheerleaders support the Cardinal athletes not only with their cheering but also by "advertising" the forthcoming games with attractive posters and special show cases. A faculty committee chooses each girl, rising junior or senior who must maintain a C average.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Mary Bacon, the squad executes services such as planning and decorating for the annual Homecoming weekend, sponsoring bus trips for all out-of-town basketball and football games, supporting home wrestling matches and G.W.'s four spring sports, and organizing pep rallies.

In an effort to promote school spirit, the cheerleaders undertook as a special project the decorating of the football stadium with a permanent welcome sign bearing the Cardinal insignia. In place of a live mascot the girls drew and painted the canvas "Cardinal" which is carried to all football games to be hung from the goal posts.

Annual projects of sponsoring an Open House and selling ribbons were continued. Proceeds helped defray expenses as the Varsity squad fulfilled its purpose of backing G.W.'s sports program through rain or shine.

G.W.H.S. Letter-Winners of 1962-63 Season

Football Fans Find Successful Season Satisfying and Scintillating

"THIS FIELD IS SICK!" Jerry Mayhew voices to James Neaves, manager, his disgust at the condition of the field in the Halifax game.

The 1962 football season saw the re-emergence of the Cardinals of George Washington High School as a power in Western District and State Group 1-A football circles. The Cardinal Varsity, after three lean years, compiled their best record since 1954 with eight wins and two losses, a second place finish in the Western District and a high position among all State Group 1-A school.

JV Squad Serves And Trains Varsity Winners

The 1962 Cardinal Varsity Football squad, coached by Mr. Joseph Gurtis, assisted by Mr. Harold Lakey and Mr. Bob Reed, steamrolled their way to five straight victories before losing their first game to E. C. Glass in Lynchburg, 18-28, as the Hilltoppers only needed to gain 28 yards to score four touchdowns. In their five-game victory string, the Redbirds crushed R. B. Worthy 26-6, outfought Reidsville 7-0, toyed with Northeast Guilford 20-0, smashed Halifax County 25-6, and routed Martinsville 18-0 in the Danville Shrine Game for 1962. After the defeat, the Cardinals rebounded to topple Patrick Henry 25-9, but then the Redbirds were stopped cold by Lane, 0-7, in 19-degree weather in Charlottesville. The Varsity closed out their season with two straight victories, defeating Jefferson Senior 20-14 in the 1962 Homecoming Game and then rallying from a 20-0 deficit to defeat William Fleming with a touchdown in the last 24 seconds, 26-20.

Tri-captains Wayne Anderson, Joe Stilwell and Mike Brown set high standards of leadership and dedication for the squad which was notable as a whole and for unit excellence. The Redbird offense, featuring the running of Brown, Steve Flynn and Burgin Beale; the passing and quarterbacking of Stilwell; the pass receiving of Claude Owen, Jerry Mayhew and Flynn; and the up-front blocking of John Spessard, Richard Harper, Anderson, Jerry Eanes, Dan Hooker and Winston Aron, scored three or more touchdowns in eight of the ten games played. In the final game against Fleming, Stilwell completed 15 of 17 passes for over 200 yards and three touchdowns and scored one touchdown, and Mayhew caught nine passes for over 100 yards. The Cardinal defense, receiving performances from Barry Koplen, David Tate, Ken Parrish, Charles Dodson, Spessard, Harper and Hooker along the line, with Anderson, Eanes, Troy Dalton, Dick Smith, Brown, Beale and Flynn in the defensive backfield, yielded only 13 touchdowns all season, with not one single touchdown being scored by passing.

To close out this successful football season, the final one for 16 seniors on the Cardinal squad, Stilwell and Mayhew won first team All-Western District honors; Anderson, Brown and Flynn made the second team, with Koplen, Tate, Spessard, Harper, Hooker and Beale receiving honorable mention.

HOLE IN LINE OPENED by John Spessard (70) and Dan Hooker (50) as Steve Flynn bursts through for big gain against Jefferson Senior before being tackled from behind by an unidentified Magician as Guy Lipscomb (12) moves by to assist, but Jerry Mayhew (80) of the Cardinals has different ideas.

The Junior Varsity posted an outstanding 5-1-1 record, while the young Freshman squad won five games and lost four.

The winning tradition established by these three 1962 football squads should carry ever into other areas of athletics as well as into football seasons for many years to come.

Outstanding linemen were Jimmy Hall, Lee Stilwell, Nathan Stephens, David Baxa, Sid Wooding, Bland Aron, and Mike Boulware. Much should be heard from these boys as they move up to the 1963 Varsity squad.

Coached by Mr. Ben Kendall and Mr. O. J. Byrnside, the G. W. Freshman football squad, on their way to a 5-4 record for the season, compiled an outstanding 4-1 record against Western District freshman teams, including victories over Patrick Henry 14-6, Halifax County 18-13, E. C. Glass 26-6, and William Fleming 21-0. The Cardinal freshman lost to Halifax County (in a return game) 12-0 for their only Western District loss of the campaign.

Members of the Freshman squad expected to excel on next year's Junior Varsity or Varsity squads include quarterback Jay Dorman, half-backs Reid Taylor and James Dooley, and tackles Ralph Raines and Gene Eastridge.

Cardinal Cagers Have Full Season

For varsity coach Ben Kendall, who returned to G.W. after an absence of two years, basketball prospects looked bleak, since only two members of last year's varsity squad reported for practice on November 1. Stumbling through the first part of the season, the Cardinals alternated between near victory (as against Andrew Lewis, who defeated the Cardinals 54-52 in two overtimes) and complete collapse (as a below-average Patrick Henry squad humiliated the redbirds in Danville, 68-51.)

With the return of Doug Kendrick to the line-up, Cardinal basketball fortunes began to change for the better, culminating in the 54-45 defeat of the Wolverines of Andrew Lewis in Salem, on February 8. Coach Kendall's charges rolled on to a district record of 7-5, an overall record of 9-9, and a berth in the Western Regional Tournament in Salem on March 1, 2, 1963, where the Redbirds finished a very creditable 3rd among the eight teams in the Tournament.

Things look bright for the Cardinals for '63-'64. Harry Flynn and co-captain Joe Stilwell will be graduated, but returning from this year's squad will be high scoring Bruce Burnette, John Spessard, Jimmy Walton, Buddy Clayton, Jimmy Thompson, and Kendrick, all juniors, and first-string sophomores Kenny Hopkins and Rusty Lester.

These, Too,

"G. W.'s GENE KRUPA," Vance Yarborough, arouses enthusiasm and spirited support at home basketball games with his enlivened drum beat.

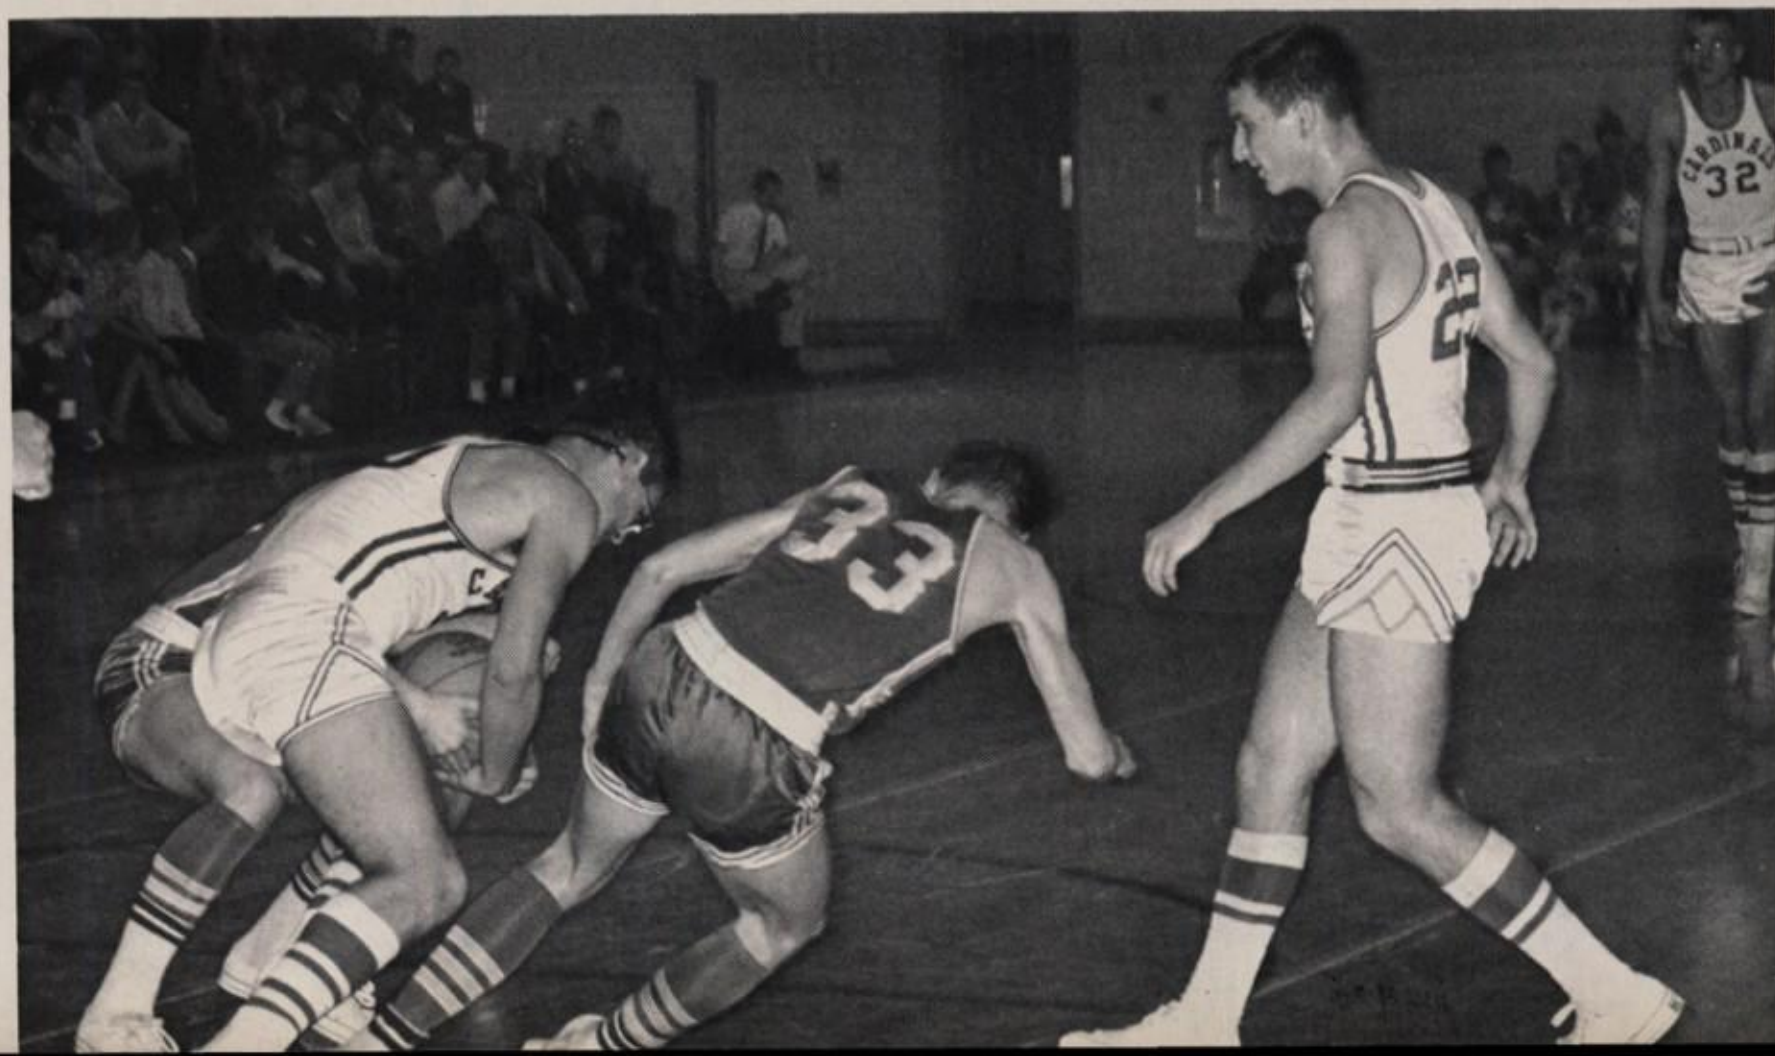

The "run-and-shoot" junior varsity basketball squad of Coach Harold Lakey, who must be the winningest junior varsity coach in the Western District, continued their domination of District teams as they compiled a record of 15 wins and only 3 losses for the season. Outstanding victories included two over-time wins over the JV Wolverines of Andrew Lewis High of Salem and two triumphs over the E. C. Glass High junior varsity.

Expected to add great depth and speed to next year's Varsity are outstanding forwards Mike Giles, Lee Stilwell and Jimmy Hall, big rangy center Ken Talley, and fine-shooting guards Miller Jones and Joel DeBoe.

JOHN SPESSARD OF THE CARDS tries to wrest the ball from an unfortunate Andrew Lewis player. Bob Bardsley (33) assists while Jimmy Thompson (22) and Buddy Clayton (32) look on.

TABULATING THE SCORE for the half are Ricky Mitchell of Danville and the scorekeeper of the visiting team, as Eddie Mise awaits the results.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Coached by Mr. O. J. Byrnside, the Cardinal Freshman Team played two seasons in one as they lost five of their first six games and then, after mid-year examinations, won five of their last six basketball contests. The youngsters reached the low point of their schedule when they were defeated by the Yanceyville High JV's in Yanceyville 50-42, after the Yanceyville crew had jumped off to a 16-2 lead at the end of the first quarter. The high of the Frosh schedule was also in defeat, a 42-40 set back at the hands of powerful Reidsville Junior High.

Spearheading the Cardinal Freshmen were co-captains Ralph Raines and Johnny Hamlin, with their respective rebounding and playmaking abilities; Reid Taylor, the team's leading scorer; Hugh Clement, a fine defensive player; Richard Evans, a good shooter with either hand; and Bob Clare and Tommy Doss.

Steve Salmony swings his tennis racket mightily, while Harry Flynn awaits the return.

The Cardinal tennis team, ranked second in the state in pre-season predictions, smashed its way to eight straight high school victories before losing to Patrick Henry High in the final match of the season, 5-4. The playoff match, held in Lynchburg, resulted in another 5-4 victory for Patrick Henry and a second place Western District finish for the Cardinal netmen.

Seeking to regain the District title and improve on last year's overall record of 8-3, Coach Bob Mitchell this season had returning veterans Steve and Larry Salmony, Harry Flynn, Branson Isley, Dane Patty, and Rusty Lester.

OUTSTANDING HURDLER Jerry Mayhew makes the jump.

Rebuilding under the tutelage of Coach Bob Reed, the G. W. track team compiled a 6-8 record, including fourth place finishes in the Danville Relays and the Western District meet.

Jerry Mayhew, a three-year junior veteran outstanding in the high and low hurdles, won the "Most Outstanding" track award. Challenging Mayhew was sophomore John Spessard, who set school records in the shot put and discus.

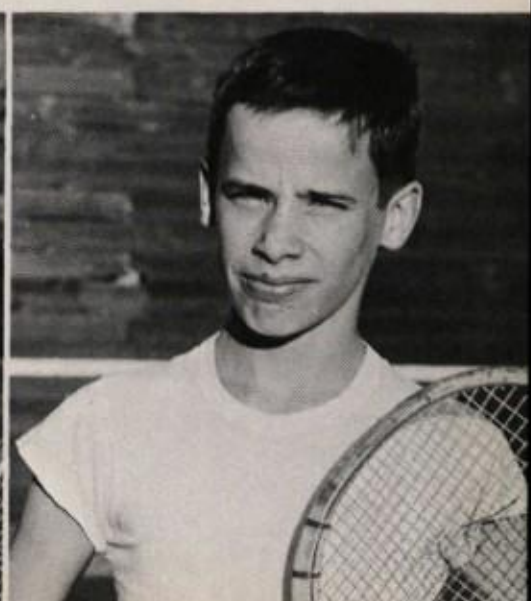

With Jerry Eanes, Buddy Clayton, Jimmy Martin, Mayhew and Spessard in the field events, and Mayhew, Clayton, Martin, Mike Brown, Chip Gaddy and Mike Giles in the running events, this season G. W. challenged perennial powerhouses E. C. Glass, Andrew Lewis, and Patrick Henry for District and State track honors.

G.W. Grapplers Break More Records

"THEY SMILE AS SLYLY as they wrestle." The "Cross-Body Ride" is demonstrated by Jerry Barker and Mike Brown in an afternoon practice.

With senior veterans in nine of the twelve weight divisions, the George Washington High School wrestling squad, coached by Joseph Gurtis, Jr., thundered to an overall record of 10 wins and 2 losses, and a Western District record of 6-0. Establishing themselves as the class of Southwest Virginia, the Cardinal grapplers crushed Patrick Henry 50-0, Jefferson Senior 56-0, and Hargrave Military Academy 50-0, with awesome displays of wrestling strength and finesse. As the season neared its end, the Cardinal squad was expected to place high in the Western Regionals and in the State Wrestling Meet at Washington & Lee High School in Arlington.

Outstanding performances this season were turned in by undefeated Gene Touchstone and Jerry Barker, and once-beaten Mike Brown and Tommy Slayton. Contributing to the outstanding season were Branson Isley, LeRoy Merricks, Richard Dixon, Doug Thomasson, Barry Koplen, Dan Hooker, Jerry Eanes and Rocky English.

Golfers Go Great!

The George Washington golf team, coached by George Carter, finished second in Group I-A Western District play and placed sixth in the Virginia High School League State Golf Tournament at Chantilly on May 18-19, 1962.

The Cardinal linksmen marked five straight victories. Losses to Patrick Henry High and Oak Ridge Military Academy, by identical 18½-8½ scores, and a 13½-13½ tie with Oak Ridge, marred an otherwise successful season.

Outstanding parbusters for the Cardinal golfers were Charles Thompson, Bobby Godsey, Charles Main, and Harry Lea, a three-year veteran and winner of the "Most Outstanding Golfer" award.

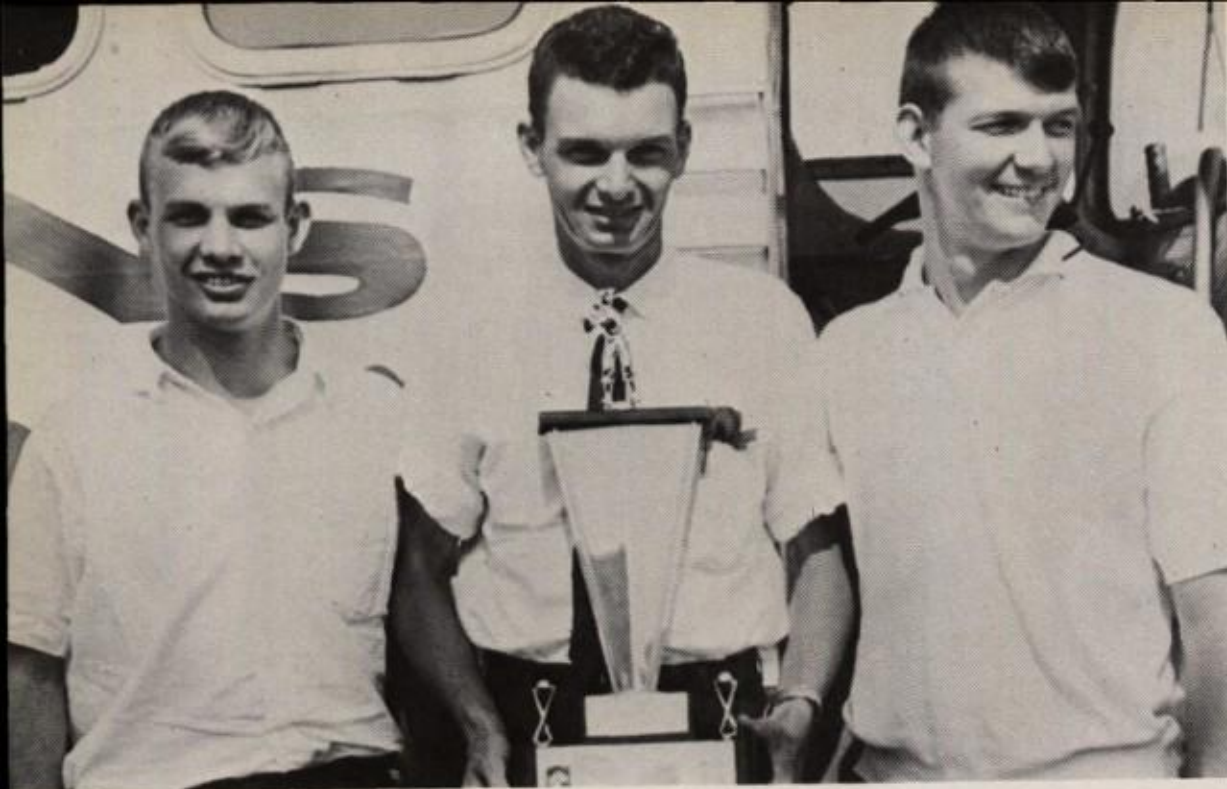

"THE RIGHT HAND HERE," says Coach Carter instructing Charles Main, Mike Tucker, and John Barr, GW top golfers, on how to hold the club most effectively.

Skilled Connie Mack Sluggers

Three years of "togetherness," along with excellent coaching, led the 1962 Connie Mack team to undreamed-of heights—all the way to Springfield, Illinois, and the national finals.

As the season began in the late spring of 1962, practice sessions were not too strenuous. This squad carried the fine points of baseball from their three years of high school work at George Washington into their bid for the district championship.

Compiling a 17-0 district record, the Connie Mackers, defeating Charlotte Courthouse who once stood victorious over the Danville team, fought through a tight double elimination play-off to become area champs.

Again at the regionals held in Columbus, Georgia, the local team bounced back to beat Phoenix City in the finals after bowing once in the contest. Behind the pitching of Wray Ware and M. H. Herndon, and the steady hitting of Tommy Cole and Tom Lampman, a recruit from Lynchburg, the Connie Mack team became regional champs.

The final and highest honor was the World Series of Connie Mack play, held at Springfield. In two hard-fought games, the Danville team bowed to Copiaque, New York, and Springfield, thus eliminating them from the tournament.

CONNIE MACK TEAM Wray Ware, Charlie Falwell, Randy Davis, Tommy Cole, Tom Lampman, Eddie Mise, Steve Flynn, M. H. Herndon, Steve Simmoy (bat boy), G. B. Clark, Dennis Shepherd, Frankie Pruitt, Aubrey Dewberry, Hubert Haley, Frank Simmons (assistant coach), Larry Clark, Riki Campbell, Duke Davis, William Bolton (coach).

GIVE 'EM THE WORD, COACH WILSON! Larry Clark, M. H. Herndon, Tommy Cole, Randy Davis, Riki Campbell, and Wray Ware listen intently to their coach.

Reflect Glory on Danville, GW and Coach Wilson

With a nucleus of poised, seasoned baseball performers, L. G. "Lefty" Wilson began his 35th year as baseball coach. The 1962 squad posted an over-all season record of 15-2-1, good enough for a second place finish in regular season district play.

The newly inaugurated Western District baseball tournament was held on May 19, 1962, in Roanoke. After defeating Jefferson Senior in the semi-finals, the Cardinals met Patrick Henry for the Western District championship. In an error-plagued contest, the Cardinals were defeated by a score of 11-7.

Outstanding players for the Cardinal nine throughout the season were pitchers, M. H. Herndon and Wray Ware, with Herndon, Ware, Tommy Cole, Randy Davis and Steve Flynn starring at bat and in the field. As tribute to his outstanding performance in four years of varsity baseball competition, Tommy Cole won his second straight "Most Valuable Player" award.

Representing Danville in Connie Mack play during the summer months, the Cardinal baseball squad won district, state, and Southeastern United States regional championships. The Cards reached the semifinals in the National Connie Mack championship tournament in Springfield, Illinois.

Athletic Superiors Receive Recognition

Drive, effort, and hours of hard work qualify boys for membership in the Monogram Club, composed of those who have earned their varsity letters through G. W.'s varied sports program.

The "big weekend of the year"—Homecoming—was co-sponsored by this group and the cheerleaders. Hours of preparation and then it began, ushered in by a spirited bonfire. Homecoming continued with a parade, the game, and the announcement of Queen XXV and her attendants. It was climaxed by a formal dance with a medieval theme honoring Queen Allen and her court.

Also included in Monogram activities were the student-faculty basketball game and a spring picnic.

But not only physical fitness is stressed by the athletic department. Those coupling strong minds with strong bodies may qualify for membership in the Athletic Honor Society. Candidates must have lettered in one major sport, or two minor sports, and must have maintained a "B" average for the three previous semesters.

We, the youth of George Washington High School, explore New Frontiers as we grow and develop through the Classes, building toward the senior year. We think of ourselves, not as four different classes, but as one student body working together for the betterment of ourselves and our school.

As Fall, 1962, Arrives

The Freshman Class of 1963 was one of the largest classes ever to enter George Washington. There were over 700 students coming from several different schools, eager to be welcomed.

Welcomed? Yes, as they entered the huge doors, they were greeted by opportunity and many friendly upperclassmen. They are heard to remark about the chance for "the fresh new start." "A helpful guidance council and intelligent, understanding teachers have been very important in our adjustment," said a class officer.

The most impressive feature for every freshman, boy or girl, was the mysterious and exciting Senior Lounge. "Our greatest desire is to someday be a senior and finally enter and enjoy the Senior Lounge," was the reaction of one member of the freshman class.

Main activities were directed and carried out by the Freshman Advisory Council. This group consisted of one representative from each homeroom, who took ideas from the homeroom to committees for adjustments. Later the council put selected ideas into effect.

It was a typical freshman class with typical freshman problems. The Freshman Advisory Council did prove its worth by citing the immaturity shown by the freshman and by working to improve attitudes, social and scholastic, and to boost morales.

PHONE PRIVILEGE
NEW TO FROSH has been exercised for several years by Junior Shirley Wells.

FROSH MAY MINGLE with sophomores in taking biology. Junior high students now may take advanced courses almost enabling them to enter GW as sophomores. Here biology teacher Mr. Marshall Pender instructs his students Faye Pearman, Wayne White, Janet Strader, and Janice Goodson.

After Year of Maturing

ALMOST SNOWBOUND, GWites flee to cars and freshmen find they'd gladly give up their place in the carpool to have "mother" pick them up. What's going on under the umbrella?

Mrs. Mabel Davis greets parents as they follow student schedules on Visitor's Night.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS Tommy Slayton, treasurer, Joel Deboe, president, Sandra Barrick, secretary, Dave Griffith, vice-president.

The Greeks had a word for it—and the Sophomore class set out to prove that being "wise fools" could be a sobering, pleasant and altogether profitable experience. Each member of the Class of '65 felt like an old hand at trying to arrange a twenty-four hour day to accommodate first, the increased study time demanded in senior high school; second, ambitious endeavors to demonstrate true school spirit by contributing to the student activity program; third, a minimum of sleep lest any precious time be wasted in oblivion; and last, a maximum of food for the cavernous appetite of the growing soph.

Highlights of the year for the class as a whole were the annual Clash of the Classes, the selection of JV Cheerleaders, and participation in the Junior-Senior banquet as sophomore waitresses and waiters.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS Jo Ann Martin, secretary; Jimmy Walton, president; Trippy Roach, vice-president; Mary Beth Pretty, treasurer.

Upperclassmen at last! Now, juniors, the Class of 1964 could "lord it over" a record enrollment of underclassmen. And what better way to display it than with those long-awaited class rings?

First, with the selection of an advisory council, then with the election of officers, the class began to get organized to take their final stand against their senior elders in the trying Clash of the Classes.

In the spring, all minds turned to money as the class second in command began to make plans for the Junior-Senior Banquet, their final fling scheduled in honor of their superiors. But feigning obsequiousness wasn't too hard to bear, as the juniors began to realize during the election of S.C.A. officers and class day activities, that next year they would be "top men on the totem pole!"

Marshals Maneuver Upperclassmen

"WHAT HAPPENED TO THE OTHER FOUR?" Jackie Kimmel, Penny Turner, Celia Worsham, Sherry Haraway, and Jo Ann Martin rehearse for the murder mystery Nine Girls while waiting for other members of the cast: Joan Vincent, Margaret Burks, Janice Hunt, and Lynn Willeford.

MR. BLUSTER STRIKES AGAIN! Cathy Thompson vows to Donna Parrott to find the phantom trying to drive her out of her locker.

THREE FUTURE "EINSTEINS" diligently solve one of those exasperating physics problems. Working on a challenging principle are Gus Haliasos, Bob Robertson, and Jane Champion.

WHAT! CONCENTRATION IN THE SENIOR LOUNGE? Billy Nye and Jimmy Scruggs are engaged in a chess game as Terrell Stanley, Singleton Collins, Norman Cook, and Richard Dixon look on.

Through Class Day Exercises

THE PYRAMIDS OF EGYPT are not as well constructed as this one formed by sophomore "phys. ed." girls.

To believe what is said in Senior Lounge is to realize that all of the Seniors agreed that their Senior year was "the best year of all."

First of all problems coming up was a monumental one—money. Then came a logical solution—the Senior Play. "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" produced not only money but also pride in the fine cast and faculty assistants who worked so hard in this endeavor.

One of the greatest thrills of this year was the attainment of a brilliant, winning football season. What stars! What teamwork!

At the threshold of graduation with diplomas on the horizon, it was a sobering experience to know that challenging New Frontiers were opening: college, careers, marriage and family. Four years of solid preparation at George Washington High School—this training would afford a sustaining reserve of experience and memories on which to fall back in the future for the Class of '63.

The voice with a smile

Today, as always, the C&P voice with a smile is as close as "Operator" on your dial. Intelligently, cheerfully, the "Operator" handles phone calls to faraway places and intricate day-to-day problems of telephone users. Her job is interesting, important, demanding and rewarding. She's an indispensable member of our C&P communications service team.

New Frontiers . . .

As our minds contemplate ideas and ideals along modern highways of thought, we, the youth of today press ever onward down the paths of time, knowledge, and labor toward new goals, new sights, and new experiences. Laden with treasured memories of our experiences at George Washington, our minds and hearts look to the unknown frontiers of an ever better tomorrow.

The CAVALIER Staff acknowledges with gratitude the invaluable services which the following individuals and concerns have rendered:

The Register and Bee, Leon Townsend, The Commercial Appeal, Glen Scarboro, Harry Seeley, the office staff at G. W., and the Danville Recreation Department.

Ronald,

Best of luck to that little guy. When that great person, whoever he was, said "^{Precious} ~~small~~ things come in small packages" he must have been referring to you. You're certainly small and precious as well. The girl who gets you will really be lucky. Remember the fun we've had in the past even though G.W. almost separated our little group.

Best of luck to a swell guy and may you achieve your highest ambitions.

Do you love me like I love you?
(my punchline)! Hope so!

all the happiness in the world,

Linda

(Boyle)

Ronald,

Boy! was this booba shock. I really don't quite no what to say. Except that in the past years at Woodrow and this year at D.W. you have been one of my best friends. Remember the night of Susan's party?

How could you forget it, especially since you couldn't find the house. But now since the road being cut by my house is to be called

Freeze Road I doubt if you ^{would} have ~~any~~ trouble.

I bet you think I'm avoiding you but that's not true. It just works out that way. (The reason I'm writing this big is because Freddy said to fill the whole page.) Seriously you are one of the greatest guys I have ever met. Linda Boyd really wrote a true paragraph. Best of luck!

Hoping we'll always be friends!

Martie

Ronald,

Well it's been fun to say the least!!! I wish you all the luck in the world. I don't know what I would have done without someone to tell my problems to!!

Good Luck and Good Bless...

Ro-nal,
you are a pretty good
guy when you are asleep.
Keep up the good work you doing now! Best wishes always to one of my greatest friends and pals,

Remember,
Always,
Steve Riddle

Good luck on the
T. V. Science Exam

Ronald,
you are a nice
boy even if you are Roger's brother.
Good Luck
your good buddy,
Blond.
I have enjoyed being in school with you all these years. Lots of luck. Freddy

Ronald,

Well, we made it through
J. V. Science. But I knew we would because we're such scholars.
Seriously, I have really enjoyed knowing you for these years and you one of the greatest guys around. Hope you bat .500 and pitched 3 no-hitters. Best of luck in the future to an All American.

Jay
